1. Message from the President

The President of NDA KUBO Fumiaki

Representing the National Defense Academy of Japan, I would like to welcome all the participants from abroad. We held this conference on line for the last two years. We even had to cancel it three years ago. Given this background, you would understand how happy we are this year.

I am hopeful that you learn a lot at this conference about how cadets from a different cultural background think about current international situation, leadership, and leadership education and training in the military academy, while coming to the understanding that many of you actually share a sense of mission, discipline, and dedication to your country.

On this occasion, I would like to express my own personal respect and appreciation to all of you, in Japan as well as abroad, who have chosen a career to defend your own country and your own people. In this sense, this conference is not just another exchange by regular students or young people, but this is truly a special kind of exchange by those of you who have committed yourselves to defending your country.

I would like you to take this opportunity to broaden your perspective as much as possible. I am sure that the cadets in Japan will learn a lot from you, but also I strongly hope that this conference serves as a catalyst for all the participants from abroad to learn about the international situation in Asia, a role of Japan in this region and the world, and the Japanese culture and society in general.

In closing, it is my sincere hope that you enjoy the conversation and exchange of ideas among yourselves for the next couple of days.

Thank you for coming and thank you for your service.

2. Message from the Chief of Cadet Executive Committee

27th ICC Chief of Cadet Executive Committee SATO Amane

I am SATO Amane, and the Chairperson of International Cadets Conference. I am a senior cadet here at NDA and assigned to the JASDF.

After enduring nearly four years of the pandemic, we are finally able to resume ICC in person. This conference serves as a valuable opportunity for cadets from all around the world to gather and exchange opinions on international affairs and security. Global circumstances have become increasingly precarious, with potential threats such as Russia's aggression against Ukraine, the Israel-Gaza crisis, and the possibility of a crisis in Taiwan clearly requires an immediate resolution.

That is why it is meaningful to have opportunities for discussions and deepen our connection throughout this conference.

Let's make this week a fulfilling time together.

3. About NDA

【Founding Vision of NDA】

The National Defense Academy of Japan (NDA) is the only and integrated institution to educate and train the Army, Navy, and Air force cadets as the future leaders of the Japan's Self-Defense Forces (JSDF) .

【Academic Program】

NDA has 14 departments: 11 departments in Science and Engineering and 3 departments in Humanities and Social Sciences. At the time of advancement to the second year, cadets are divided into these departments according to their personal preferences and grades.

《Science and Engineering》

- Applied Physics
- Applied Chemistry
- Earth and Ocean Sciences
- Electrical and Electronic Engineering
- Communications Engineering
- Computer Science
- Materials Science and Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Mechanical Systems Engineering
- Aerospace Engineering
- Civil and Environmental Engineering

《Humanities and Social Sciences》

- Humanities
- Public Policy
- International Relations

【Military Program】

In their first year, all cadets undergo the same basic military training. After they are assigned to GSDF, MSDF, or ASDF, their training differs according to the service to which they have been assigned. During the academic term, all cadets receive two hours of basic field training each week, plus a six-week intensive training program at various SDF bases each year.

【 Extracurricular Activities】

At NDA, all cadets are required to join one of the 41 sports clubs. The club activities are held after class on weekdays and on holidays, and cadets are actively involved in exchanges with other universities through sports and other activities.

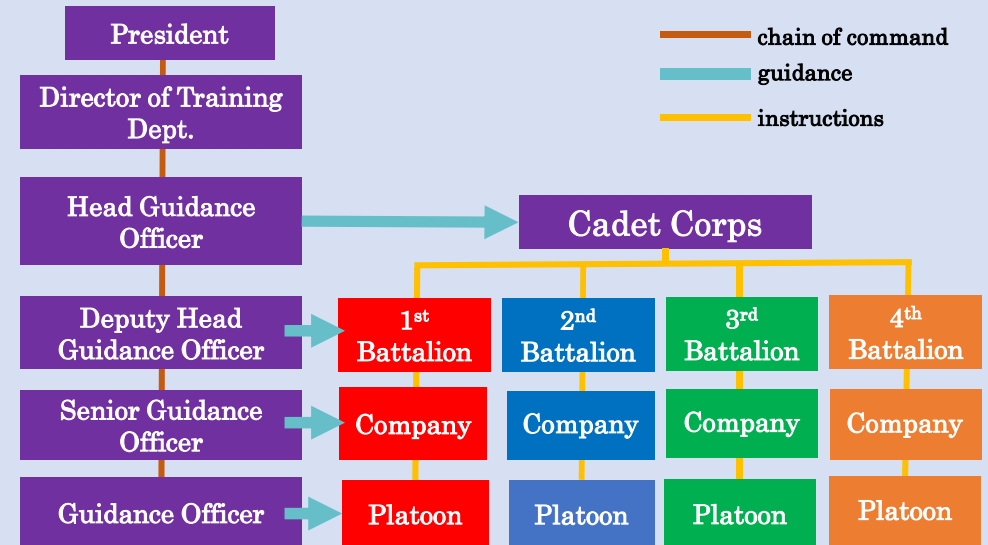

GOH (Guard of Honor)

Cutter

【Cadet Corps】

The Cadet Corps is an organization whose purpose is to deepen mutual understanding among students, to promote harmony and solidarity, to facilitate their communal life, and to help them to be future leaders.

The Cadet Corps is composed of four battalions. Each battalion has four companies; and each company has three platoons. (About 40 cadets belong to one platoon.)

4. About ICC

ICC is the International Cadets Conference hosted by the NDA. Cadets from other countries are invited to this conference. The purpose of ICC is to promote mutual understanding and trust that will lead to the future security of Japan and other countries through discussions on international affairs and security. We place emphasis on the following two points.

1. To Provide students with opportunities for international exchange (Cultivate an international mindset)
2. To Expand students' international perspectives and improve their awareness of international affairs and language skills

《Themes of the Past ICC》

26 th ICC	Various Perspective on the Future Security

5. Main Theme & Plenary Session

~Theme~

Various Perspectives on the Future Security

The purpose of this session is to share each country's position and values to facilitate smooth communications and discussions during the subcommittees. In order to discuss various topics, it is of utmost importance to first deepen our understanding of each other's values. By understanding each other's similarities and differences through the presentations, we will be able to have a deeper discussion in the subcommittees on the following day.

The theme of this year's plenary session is the same as the conference theme: "Various Perspectives on the Future Security."

The forms of warfare are becoming more diversified, and without reforming the security system depending on the times, neither national security nor international security can be improved. At this ICC, we need to discuss the future of security and how to respond to new technologies and new domains from multiple perspectives.

In the plenary session, participants from each country will give a presentation on the current security environment from the four perspectives set by each subcommittee. We sincerely hope that this plenary session will be fruitful for all cadets attending this ICC.

8. Subcommittees

Theme of Subcommittee
Role of the Military

Chairperson
MAEDA Ryoma

Service: GSDF
Battalion: 1st Battalion
Specialty: Public Policy
Club: Kendo

Our subcommittee will be presenting various aspects of the military from different countries to deepen mutual understanding. Today, when the distinction between peacetime and contingencies is becoming blurred, there is an increasing need for a renewed understanding of the role of the armed forces.

Therefore, we will introduce the activities of the armed forces in Japan and the environment surrounding them to deepen the understanding of what the armed forces should be.

Theme of Subcommittee
Future Military
Forces in Space Field

Chairperson
ONO Anju

Service: ASDF
Battalion: 2nd Battalion
Specialty: Earth and Ocean Sciences
Club: Handball

In recent years, the use of space fields has become an essential part of the infrastructure of both the public and private sectors. Space has already been positioned as an “operational domain” and space security has become an issue for Japan and other countries. The technical role of the SDF and the military in space security will be discussed to ensure the stable use of space fields. Approximately 70% of the cadets at the NDA are science majors, and many of them are less familiar with law and international relations, which are often on the ICC agenda. Future Military Forces in Space Field subcommittee is attracting attention as a new area of security as well as a popular scientific field of study. We hope that more cadets will become interested in ICC and acquire an understanding of international affairs and diverse values, which are essential for cadets, as they enjoy discussing space fields.

Theme of Subcommittee
Future Security
Envisioned by LAWS

Chairperson
ASAMA Yukito

Service: GSDF
Battalion: 3rd Battalion
Specialty: International Relations
Club: Kendo

I am ASAMA Yukito, 3rd Battalion ICC Chairperson. The theme of our subcommittee is "Future Security Envisioned by LAWS (Lethal Autonomous Weapons Systems)". In recent years, unmanned and AI-equipped weapons have been developed and deployed in actual warfare. Among them, LAWS is one of the weapons that has attracted the most attention. On November 1 last year, the first committee of the UN General Assembly held a discussion on LAWS. Our subcommittee will discuss the combat procedures and operational modalities of LAWS by analyzing them from the perspective of international law and granting specific situations.

Theme of Subcommittee
Relationship between Soldier and Civilian

Chairperson
USAMI Matsuri

Service: GSDF
Battalion: 4th Battalion
Specialty: Applied Physics
Club: Hand Ball

The current global security environment has become more diverse and complex due to the emergence of new domains, technologic advancements and transformations in the international society. In such circumstances, we believe that nations need to redefine their civil-military relationship. To effectively respond to the ever-changing nature of modern warfare, cooperation between the military and civilians at various stages, including recruitment, cutting-edge technology, and strategy, is indispensable.

As officer candidates, we envision becoming the core of future armed forces, and therefore, it is essential for us to cultivate a foundation for contemplating civil-military relations. We hope that this symposium can contribute to that goal by addressing relevant topics.
