

Chief of Staff's visit to Colorado Springs, U.S.

From April 5 to April 8, General Izutsu, Chief of Staff, Japan Air Self-Defense Force, attended Space Symposium and Space Chiefs Forum and visited the United States Air Force Academy (USAFA) in Colorado Springs, U.S. During Space Symposium and Space Chiefs Forum, he discussed security challenges in using space and exchanged views with Chiefs of other countries on the defense cooperation in the use of space and the necessity of further efforts to create the international partnerships and networks. In USAFA, General Izutsu paid a visit to the place of education, which has produced numerous outstanding personnel and had talks with the Superintendent of USAFA on the concept of development of human resources to be responsible for the security environment in the future.
