

【Press Release】

September 28, 2023
Air Staff Office

Opening of the Space Collaboration & Innovation Office

Air Staff Office will open Space Collaboration & Innovation Office in order to establish a joint work environment with the private sector. The details are as follows

Details

1. Purpose

In the field of space utilization, which is undergoing remarkable progress, the Space Collaboration & Innovation Office will exchange opinions with private businesses and gain knowledge of cutting-edge civilian technologies. Furthermore, the knowledge gained will be reflected in future equipment introductions, etc., and civilian technology will be further utilized in the defense field, leading to improvements in Japan's overall space capabilities.

2. Period

From October 2, 2023 (Monday) for the time being

3. Location

In CIC Tokyo office, Toranomom Hills Business Tower 15F, 1-17-1 Toranomom, Minato-ku, Tokyo

4. Scope of work

Research and study, information gathering activities, and holding seminars and other events to publicize the activities of the Japan Air Self-Defense Force.

5. Personnel

Several full-time staffs

Emblem of Space Collaboration & Innovation Office

Energetic Atmosphere, Comfortable Space, and Community

CIC Tokyo is committed to fostering a strong community that truly cares about being "Innovation Leaders". The hallways are intricately designed to encourage unexpected encounters, and the atmosphere is conducive to starting a casual conversation with other CIC members.

Industry Specific Communities

Recognizing and sharing social issues amongst related fields and companies, and an environment where you can easily find partners to tackle these together, is crucial in nurturing innovation. CIC Tokyo works with a variety of companies, organizations, and government agencies to build a community specializing in fast-growing business fields, and to support startup innovation from a variety of perspectives.

CIC Tokyo's activities (quoted from its website)